Lymphatic drainage

Lymphatic Drainage is a deep type of manual massage that helps to direct lymphatic fluid towards the lymph nodes. The lymphatic system is part of the immune system and cleans toxins, proteins, cancer cells, viruses, and dead cells about 20 times faster than the body is able to do. Once a large amount of toxins are eliminated, the body is able to relax more deeply and use its energy more directly to regenerate the cells. People have been known to lose weight, have increased energy level
